The New Holstein Airport hosted the C Company 2-135 Air National Guard Medevac Unit from West Bend on November 1 – 3, 2013. C Company 2-135 choose the New Holstein Airport to carry out its training exercise. Three other Wisconsin Airports hosted similar activities for the Air National Guard this same weekend.

The training exercise provided the 22 soldiers with the opportunity to train in emergency response before an actual national emergency situation occurs. Army Pilot Casey Voss, a native to Campbellsport, said that he was happy to be able use the New Holstein Airport as it is close to home and is a great facility with attractive amenities.

The Company expressed their gratitude for the use of the airport by presented a plaque to Airport Manager and FBO Perry Welch.
